

Part II Assistant / Newly qualified Architect

Darren Oldfield Architects is seeking an experienced Part II Architectural Assistant or recently qualified Part III architect to join its London practice. Established in 2013, we provide sustainable, inventive and meticulously designed architecture to a range of residential and commercial clients. Over the past four years, our project sizes and workloads have steadily increased, with a growing client base predominantly in London and the South East.

We are now expanding, and seeking a highly motivated, quick-to-learn and hardworking person to join our office, based in West Dulwich. The right candidate will gain first-hand experience in running several of the practice's smaller residential projects, working alongside a supportive and close-knit team.

As we are a small practice, the right person for the role will be keen to get involved in all aspects of the architectural process. The successful candidate will have:

- at least 3 year's work experience in a UK architecture practice (3-5 years post Part II or 1-3 years post Part III experience)
- excellent interpersonal, verbal and graphical communication skills
- excellent written and spoken English
- strong detailing skills
- evidence of job running
- proficiency using Mac, Vectorworks and Sketchup experience beneficial
- an ability to work independently and in a responsible and self-motivated manner
- an ability to start work at short notice

Applications for flexible or part time working will be considered.

Application deadline:

10 February 2017, 17:00

How to apply:

Please submit your covering letter, portfolio/CV and examples of work (max. 5Mb), along with your salary expectations to rita@darrenoldfield.co.uk
